IBAK CCTV Systems

IBAK products may operate out of sight, but their success is clearly visible. Users all over the world use the innovative sewer inspection systems of the market leader from Kiel.

When the company founder Helmut Hunger started his own business called "Ingenieur Büro Atlas Kiel" in 1945 he was not thinking in global dimensions. His approach was to develop perfectly functioning precision products. An approach which we still follow today with passion. The emphasis has always been on innovative, user-oriented solutions. So it is no accident that it was IBAK who invented sewer television in 1957.

Products from IBAK are technical masterpieces. The long years of experience of our engineers ensure the use of future-oriented technologies and their practical implementation. The result: in spite of all the high tech, IBAK systems are high-performance, user-friendly, durable and low-maintenance. All IBAK products have one thing in common: they are made in Germany. So all system components, hardware and software are developed, manufactured, assembled and tested by IBAK.

Because of their high standard of quality, IBAK products are always a safe investment. In spite of all the outstanding product properties, the economical aspect plays a decisive role.

IBAK inspection systems make their own contribution to the protection of the environment. Our systems detect damage in drinking water and sewage pipes and thus help to preserve the precious asset of drinking water for the future.

To keep you in the picture always and everywhere, IBAK offer you a world-wide network of distributors and service centres for all their products. This is ensured by more than 40 international partners. Professional. Fast. Reliable.
